A Woman of a Certain Age

(As told in comic verse and song)

This entertainment is a light-hearted look at the ups and downs of life as we mature (physically, at least!), told through comic verses and songs. These include poems and a song by the wonderful Victoria Wood, as well as humorous verse by Pam Ayres, Roald Dahl, A A Milne and Jenny Joseph. We start with A A Milne's poem: "The End", (which is really about the beginning!), progressing through the teenage years, motherhood, middle age, and finally the pros and cons of old age. The programme concludes with a short playlet entitled Resting Place, where an elderly couple, Jim and Minnie, stop for a rest on their way home at a cemetery and discuss their future. This is a bittersweet comedy, showing the enduring value of the simple things in life, and told with great humour and insight.

I would estimate that the programme will last for 40 - 45 minutes.
